

Check out these other resources for transfer students:

Transferology-How Close Are You to Earning Your Bachelor's at NLU?

For more details on transfer credit you may be eligible for, check out Transferology. This tool will allow you to enter courses you've already taken and tell you how they will transfer to a baccalaureate degree of your choice. It will also give you information about courses you'll still need to complete and how long it will take to receive your NLU bachelor's degree.

Transferology is a quick and automated way to get your personalized degree plan before your admission to NLU.

» Get started with Transferology Community College Transfer Guides and NLU Partnerships.

To help you transfer to one of our bachelor's degrees, NLU has signed more than 100 program articulation agreements with community colleges and other institutions.

These agreements allow students who have earned an associate degree from a community college to transfer all credits earned as part of their degree to NLU (program restrictions may apply). Students who have not completed associate degrees will have all previous college work evaluated on a course-by-course basis.

» View all NLU community college transfer articulation agreements